House Passes Army Service Bill, 203-202

The army service extension bill passed the House in Washington Tuesday night by the narrow margin of one vote, when the House by a vote of 203 to 202 passed the bill, apparently assuring ultimate enactment of the legislation by the end of the week. Voting for the measure were 182 Democrats and twenty-one Republicans. Opposition votes included sixty-five Democrats, 132 Republicans and four minor party members. All Texans voted for the bill except Speaker Sam Rayburn, who was presiding. Speaker Rayburn played an important part in securing passage of President Roosevelt's measure.

Previously, the Senate had approved the measure, whereby Roosevelt may keep draftees, militiamen, reservists and Army enlisted men in the service for a maximum period of eighteen months beyond the term for which they were inducted.

All men in the service will receive a raise of $10.00 per month after completing their first year in service, the present basic Army pay being $30,00 a month.

Following the vote, Speaker Rayburn said: "The yeas are 203 and the nays 202 and the bill is passed."

Applause greeted his assertion from the Democratic side and some applause from the galleries. Mr. Rayburn then agree to a recapitulation, in view of the closeness of the vote, when the same vote was recorded.

Seizure By The U. S. Of French Lands Hinted

Marshal Petain has decided to collaborate with Germany and it appears the Nazis will shortly occupy Dakar and French possessions in Africa. In Washington there is talk of seizing the Island of Matrinique, a French possession off the coast of South America. It is believed this will be necessary if the United States expects to enforce the Monroe Doctrine and keep Germany out of the Western Hemisphere.

Petain said his people must work side by side with the Nazis to remake the map of Europe. He admitted that "democracy is dead" for France.

Vice Premier Admiral Jean Darlan was appointed Minister of National Defense at Vichy in a reorganization of the French Cabinet.

Following the most vicious daylight air raid of the war by the British RAF Tuesday, the German bombers flew over England Tuesday night and rained bombs on a number of cities, mostly in South Wales. the North and West Midlands and the Northeast and Northwest. Following the British air raid the Air Ministry admitted that twelve Blenheim bombers and eight fighting planes had been lost.

On the Russian front Moscow claimed an entire German Division had been annihilated and 7,500 German troops were killed or wounded.

Rainfall Of 1.43 Inches Recorded In City Tuesday

A heavy wind and rainstorm, which visited McKinney Tuesday afternoon, brought 1.43 inches of rain, according to Weather Observer Don W. Bagwill. The rain, which began about 3.30 o'clock in the afternoon, brought one of the heaviest downpours in McKinney in several months, accompanied by a thunder and electrical storm that darkened the skies and made young streams of McKinney Streets. A light shower fell is the city about 4 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Blown by a heavy wind, the heavy downpour Tuesday afternoon sent McKinneyites scurrying for cover and caused motorists to seek all available places of shelter during the height of the storm.

The downpour brought at least a temporary halt in the hot weather spell and brought delightfully cool breezes to this section. The rain was not needed on farm crops, says County Agricultudal Agent Jack McCullough, who explains that corn is too far advanced to be helped by the moisture and that additional rainfall only causes cotton insect pests to become more numerous. Many Collin County farmers, who have sprayed their cotton for insects, will now be forced to spray again following the rain.

With the height of the rainstorm over, kiddies of McKinney had a treat when, dressed in sunsuits, they waded in overflowed streets and water puddles throughout the city.

Mrs. Cora Mae McCormick of Dallas spent Monday in McKinney with relatives.

Last Rites Are Held In Dallas For E. J. Kiest

Friends, admirers and business associates of Edwin John Kiest from every walk of life crowded into the Scottish Rite Temple Auditorium, in Dallas, Tuesday to pay their last respects to the newspaper publisher, radio station owner, civic worker and philanthropist, who died Monday as he approached his eightieth birthday.

Hundreds accompanied the body to Oakland Cemetery, where the service of the Scottish Rite Masonic order, started at the temple, was concluded at the grave, although a heavy rain was falling. Dr. Umphrey Lee, President of Southern Methodist University, Dallas, paid tribute to Mr. Kiest in the services at the temple as a man who demonstrated what can be accomplished by sheer will power and purposefulness.

Activities in Masonic Circles.

The funeral services were held in the same building where in the Spring of 1918 Mr. Kiest received his thirty-second Scottish Rite Masonic Degree. He was originally a member of Dallas Masonic Lodge but transferred to Keystone Lodge when it was formed as a charter member. He was made a thirty-third degree Scottish Rite Mason in October, 1927. At the time of his death he was vice-president of the Texas Scottish Rite Crippled Children's Hospital.

Bishop Harry T. Moore of the Dallas Episcopal diocese gave the benediction from the auditorium stage banked with flowers. After a prayer and eulogy by Dr. Lee and the singing of Abide With Me" by the Bel Canto Quartet, services were conducted by officers of Lone Star Chapter, Rose Croix, Scottish Rite Masonry. Participating were James C. Jones, wise master; E. H. McClure, senior warden; Dr. J. B. Hill, junior warden, and A. D. Fraser, orator. At the grave, Sam Marks, expert, and J. D. Peterson, assistant expert, assisted. All are thirty-third degree Masons, except Mr. Peterson, who holds the rank of KCCH.

Among the mourners in the Scottish Rite Temple auditorium were five Negroes, who were given seats in one corner of the hall where they had a clear view of the flower-covered casket and the services.

The lead casket, estimated to weigh 1,600 pounds, required the help of several men besides the regular pallbearers to be carried down the stairs from the second floor of the auditorium to the first floor. Mr. Kiest was buried beside his wife, Elizabeth Patterson Kiest, who died in 1917.

Pallbearers were eight department heads of the Daily Times Herald, which Mr. Kiest acquired in 1891 when it was a struggling little paper in a town just reaching the city stage.

The body lay in state at the Scottish Rite Temple from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m., when the funeral services began.

Native of Chicago.

Tribute Paid To McKinney Cafe Owner In Special Story Of "The Chuck Wagon"

The August, 1941, issue of "The Chuck Wagon" published monthly by the State Resturant Association of Texas, is of special interest to McKinney, since it contains a full page story, with picture, of E. L. (Kall) Woods, well-known McKinney cafe owner, who is Secretary-Treasurer of the State Resturant Association of Texas.

The interesting story regarding Mr. Woods, which will prove of interest to citizens of McKinney and Collin County, follows:

About midway between Sherman and Dallas, in the progressive little city of McKinney, the center of a prosperous county of farmers, is a cafe which is known up and down Highway No. 75 from Winnepeg, Canada to Mexico City. This restaurant, which is modern in every respect, brings to a reality the dreams of a young man who early in life became possessed with a desire to own and operate a business of his own.

The proprietor of this modern business, E. L. Woods, who is affectionately called "Kall" by his friends and customers, began his business career as a paper boy, and while engaged in this sort of business, early in life, acquired the ability to deal with the public, and the ability to make friends. These traits and his love of life, and natural interest in others, down through the years have been important factors in making him the successful business man which he is, while still comparatively a young man.

After service as a paper boy for a period of years "Kall" became a soda jerker in an average size drug store in which position for a period of four years he broadened the scope of his friendships and improved his ability as a business man. At the end of this period, with confidence in the future and with his savings, he purchased a small fourteenstool cafe, and went into business for himself, thereby taking another step toward realizing his life long ambition of acquiring and managing a substantial business of his own. For three years he and his faithful and attractive wife served Chiles, Steaks and Pies to an ever-growing group of satisfied customers.

About 1927, after having gained more confidence in himself, he told his wife that he believed that he would sell their profitable little lunch room, move up town, and gamble on making a success of a larger business. He sought the advice of friends, and the vast majority of them advised against it, telling him that he was making a comfortable living where he was, and that such a move as he contemplated would be dangerous. But he was not discouraged. The dream pushed him on. In 1928, he rented more space, sold his small business, and moved into his present location. He has now been in this location for 14 years, and has become one of the most successful business men of the ten thousand population little city.

The business which he operates today is up-to-date in every respect, and "Kall" has become pleasantly known up and down highway No. 75, especially by Southern Oklahoma, and North Texas people, who make his place of business one of their stopping places while traveling. In fact, Mr. Woods has catered to the traveling public, while at the same time getting more than his share of local McKinney business. His establishment today will seat fifty-six customers downstairs, and includes a banquet room for fifty customers. It is completely air-conditioned, and is one of the most attractive restaurants in Texas. Mr. Woods even operates his own home light plant, which generates enough current to light his premise, carry the refrigerated air-conditioned load, and electric refrigeration. Mr. Woods has constantly improved his cafe until it has become known as one of the neatest and most sanitary places on highway No. 75. He makes somewhat of a specialty of chicken dinners, which many customers drive miles to enjoy. His motto, "good food at reasonable prices," has steadily increased his business down through the years.

His attractive wife retired as his business helper after some five years of service, including three years in the present business, and after the birth of a son. The set of twin boys, which the popular young couple now have, are well known to the traveling public.

Mr. Woods has been busy down through the years, but he has never lost his interest in others, and his love for his friends, nor his desire to aid in any way possible in improving the restaurant business. He has been an active member of the Texas State Restaurant Association for some seven years. He annually attends both of these Association conventions, and for the past seven years has been a Director of the Texas Restaurant Association. Today, he is serving as secretary-treasurer of this Association and is known by progressive restaurant men all over the nation, as well as Texas. He accounts his success to his efforts at trying to keep abreast with changes in business, and to his affiliation with the Texas Restaurant Association, of which he is a charter member.

He is a strong believer in advertising, and has found down through the years that advertising, as well as the cultivation of friendships, pays dividends.

If you were to go to McKinney, and visit Mr. Woods, and his prosperous little business, you could tell by the smile on his face and the twinkle in his eye that he was happy at having achieved his life-long dream of owning and operating a business of his own.

Former McKinney Young Man Dies In Plane Crash

William S. Raney, 23, of Los Angeles, California, but formerly of McKinney, lost his life in a plane crash in California Sunday, it has been learned in McKinney. Mr. Raney, known to his host of McKinney friends as Billy Scott Raney, was a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Raney, now of Los Angeles.

Mr. Raney, graduate of the McKinney High School, was one of two young flyers meeting death in the plane crash. He and Walter P. Palmer, 22, who was married last Tuesday at Boulder City, a year and a half ago vainly sought to join the "American Escadrille" to fly for France and Finland, spun to earth in a small monoplane in Van Nuys and were crushed to death in the wreckage.

Mr. Raney lived at 1430 South Cloverdale Avenue, Los Angeles. The ship, authorities said, went out of control at 400 feet altitude and plunged into a bean field at Woodley and Oxnard Avenues.

Mr. Palmer, who had 2,000 hours' experience, was giving Young Raney his final flying lesson before he took his private pilot's test that day.

According to a Los Angeles newspaper, which had pictures of the two young flyers and their crashed ship, the pair took the ship, a new Interstate Cadet monoplane, off Metropolitan Airport about 4 p. m., and after flying over Van Nuys Valley began making figure eights and step turns. The plane had dual controls.

While in a steep turn, the ship slipped into a spin, witnesses told police, and instead of leveling off, dived to the ground. Both pilots were killed instantly, their bodies becoming entangled in the wreckage of the ship. Airport mechanics used acetylene torches to cut the ship apart, in order to remove the bodies, which were taken to the Ross-Jones Mortuary.

The plane was put into service two weeks ago by the Young Air Academy at Metropolitan Airport and had been rented by Palmer to give Raney the flying lesson.

The death of this former McKinney young man brings regret to his host of friends throughout this city and county. He graduated from the McKinney High School three or four years ago and immediately went to California, where the Raney family lives.

He was a first cousin of Mrs. George McCarley, wife of a well-known young McKinney business man, and Mrs. Roy Miller, of Princeton.

Miss Hassie Braswell has returned to her duties as saleslady with the Perkins Bros. Company after a week's vacation.

Tuesday night, Mr. Aiton showed that several doctrines believed by the public to be conflicting, were all taught in the New Testament and as a matter of fact were not in conflict with each other.

Roosevelt And Churchill Hold Important Conference In North Atlantic; U. S. To Aid Britain To The Fullest Extent

Somewhere in the North Atlantic, President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain met in the most momentous conference in history, according to identical broadcasts from London and Washington Thursday morning. Just where or how long the conference between the heads of the two great English-speaking Nations was held was not disclosed but in the broadcasts Thursday it was said that both executive were in complete accord on all issues.

Roosevelt, Churchill In Accord.
The United States Government agreed to cooperate to the fullest extent with Britain for the successful conduct of the war and the ultimate defeat of dictatorships. President Roosevelt, it was said, stayed within his powers as head of the American Government and did not, even by intimation, suggest that the United States would take up arms against the Axis powers. But he did promise every economic aid and agreed that this country will supply Britain and her Allies with everything it is possible to produce in this country, including planes, tanks, trucks bombers, guns and ammunition and foods.

Important decisions with regard to peace terms and the reconstruction period after the war were also reached by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill. It will be demanded that Germany and the other Axis Powers disarm and cease aggression for all time; that the countries now overrun by Germany, Italy and Japan be restored to their own people and that the people be restored the right of franchise and to govern themselves.

Important Document.
Chairman of both the Senate and House Military Affairs Committees, in commenting on the momentous joint agreement, declared the document would go down in history alongside America's Declaration of Independence. In addition to demanding that all nations in the world be set free to govern themselves, the agreement on peace terms provided that all States, large and small, would have an equal opportunity to deal economically with one another, and those countries included Germany, Italy and Japan, but complete disarmament was specifically demanded and the use of force in the future prohibited.

WPA Approval Is Given Street Work In Farmersville

Among the latest improvement projects authorized by the Works Progress Administration, according to news from Austin, is one for the improvement of streets in Farmersville, Collin County, involving $24,850.00 of WPA funds and $25,185.00 to be supplied by the City of Farmersville. There will be 98 workers employed on the project.

County Judges, Commissioners To Meet Governor

In order that he may learn first hand just what the County Judges and Commissioners of Texas want the Legislature to do regarding the road bond assumption bill when a special session is called by Governor Coke Stevenson, the Governor has asked the County Judge and Commissioners to meet with him in Austin Friday.

In view of the fact that defeat of the bond assumption bill at the last regular session of the Legislature left all participating road districts in the state faced with a tremendous increase in road taxes, Governor Stevenson was petitioned to call the special legislative session and has indicated he will comply. It is expected the Legislature will convene about September 9 to take up this one matter of legislation only and if this is done the session is expected to be over in ten days.

The special session is being timed to come before the Commissioners Courts fix the tax rates on September 12 for the coming twelve months, it was said. The former road bond assumption law set aside one cent from the State Gasoline tax to be distributed among all participating road districts and there are several in Collin County. County Judge H. H. Neilson estimates this county will be deprived of State Aid in the sum of $100,000 the coming year if the bond assumption bill is not enacted into law.

County Judge Neilson plans to attend the Austin conference with the Governor if he can possibly get away but he was not certain Thursday.

Eight Selectees Will Be Honored At Friday Program

Will J. Rhea, prominent McKinney business man, will deliver the address at a patriotic rally in the District Courtroom at the Courthouse here Friday morning. J. W. McKinney, who has been appointed to arrange for the meeting, which will be sponsored by Jimmie Geigas American Legion Post, will be Master of Ceremonies.

Eight young men of Collin County will be honored at the rally just before they depart for Dallas to be inducted into the nation's peacetime army. They will constitute the smallest quota called from this county under the Selective Service Act. Five of them will be sent to training camp by Local Board No. 1, of which T. B. Sisco is Chief Clerk and three by Board No. 2, of which Ula Saunders is Chief Clerk.

The rally, to which the public is invited, will begin at 8:15 o'clock Friday morning with bugle calls by William Dowdy, talented young musician of the McKinney High School Band. Dr. R. L. Cowan, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will deliver the invocation, and at the close of the rally, the benediction.

County Judge H. H. Neilson, who originated the "Your Friend" Club, will explain to the Selectees the purpose of the organization and will introduce them to their sponsors.

In every instance, when young men of this county have been called into the service, prominent local citizens have held a patriotic rally in order to show the boys that McKinney and Collin County are proud of them. Latest news from Washington indicates that the young men will serve two and a half years instead of, one year, as originally intended.

The eight selectees who will leave Friday to be inducted into the service are:

National Defense Is Discussed By McKinney Firemen

McKinney Volunteer Firemen held another important and well-attended monthly meeting Monday night at the City Hall, with Chief Walter Cockrell presiding. Action was taken leading to increased membership in the Department to twenty-five active members, while talks on the defense program, particularly as it relates to the Firemen and their duties, were given.

Hon. W. P. Abernathy and Dr. W. Scott Wysong, who have been honorary members, were made active members of the department. Isaac Crouch and Morey Neely both spoke regarding national defense, explaining in detail the fire or incendiary bomb, being dropped by the thousands on London and other English cities. They described the bomb in detail, showing drawings, and gave methods of combating this war evil.

A committee reported on the recent annual chicken supper given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Moore.

City Commissioner Lyman D. Robinson was present and spoke to the Firemen.

A committee, composed of Paul Wilson and Marshall Padgitt, was named to draw up resolutions on the passing of the Mother of Woody Rains, a Fireman.

Two applications for membership as active Firemen were received, and two committees, one composed of Arbie Sparlin, Red Willis and Dr. Wysong, and another of Marvin Collins, Morey Neely and Paul Wilson were named to look after the applicants.

The attendance at the meeting was good, says Chief Cockrell, only three members being absent at the meeting.

Manufacturing Of White Sidewall Tires Prohibited

The OPM issued an order prohibiting manufacture of white sidewall automobile tires after midnight, Aug. 23, in what is said was a step to conserve the nation's rubber supplies.

OPM Priorities Director E. R. Stettinius, Jr., estimated that cessation of white sidewall manufacture will save more than 6,000 tons of crude rubber a year, or over 13,000,000 pounds.

Mr. Stettinius explained that manufacture of white wall tires consumes approximately two pounds of rubber more than the production of ordinary black tires. He also declared that the order would save some zinc, which, in oxide form, is used in the coloring of white sidewalls.

Information For Young Selectees

Selective Service registrants in Texas today were urged by the State Director, General J. Watt Page, to learn the fundamental physical standards of this Nation's armed forces, consult their doctors and dentists to determine whether they conform to these standards, and to have remediable defects corrected prior to examination by local board physicians.

Pointing out that such action by registrants would constitute a distinct service to their country and to the individual registrant, General Page said that the men could not, of course, be expected to learn highly technical details of the standards. However, he said, they can acquaint themselves through their local boards with the basic requirements and, upon consultation with their own physicians or dentists, determine whether they are physically qualified according to the general standards.

Japanese Envoy Warns His Nation To Proceed Slowly

The United States is prepared and determined to meet the worst eventualities, Kaname Wakasugi, Japanese Minister to Washington, warned his people by long distance telephone from Los Angeles Monday while he was en route homeward. He told his Government to go slow as the Thailand situation was a delicate one, and while the United States did not want to go to war with Japan, this country, nevertheless, would not tolerate a Japanese move in the South Pacific that would jeopardize the interests of this country and Great Britain. Coming from Japan's own envoy, this warning was taken as significant in Tokyo as well as in Washington.

In the Russo-German war claims and counter claims are still being made from Berlin and Moscow, but information Tuesday indicated that the Nazis are making some headway in the Ukraine. Berlin claims Nazi forces will be in Kiev, capital of the Ukraine in a few days. The Red Army is fighting desperately, however, and on Monday the Red cavalry was rushed to the Ukrane, armed with bayonets, hand grenades and mine throwers and Moscow reports a terrible battle is in progress. A dispatch from Berlin said the Germans were headed for Kiev and that they will push on to Odessa, important seaport on the Black Sea. While this was going on the Red air force again bombed Berlin. It was said to have been the heaviest attack thus far on the German capital.

The latest development in Washington was the move by President Roosevelt to check inflation trends by ordering the Federal Board to put a check on installment buying. Buying on the installment plan was said to amount to seven billion dollars a year in the United States. The order signed by the President gave the Federal Reserve Board complete authority over all consumer credit. The order becomes effective in thirty days, and contracts entered into prior to that date will not be affected, it was said. The order is designed to put a check on unwarranted price advances and profiteering, and reduce the demand for goods requiring materials and labor needed for National Defense.

From Quito, Ecuador comes the report that fighting has been resumed on the disputed boundary of Ecuador and Peru. Fine Piece Of Work By Sheriff Button, Deputies Efficient work by Sheriff W. E. Button and his Deputies resulted in apprehension of an elleged bootlegger in Collin County, the man's arrest being closely followed by the arrest of two men on charges of passings a worthles check.

Sheriff Button says the check, for $26.50, was passed on a McKinney merchant, and that one of the men signed the check, the other cashing it after he had bought some merchandise.

The Collin County Sheriff and his Deputies, in the liquor raid, made at Farmersville, found thirty-seven half gallons of corn liquor. A man and his wife, the Sheriff said, were taken in charge and lodged in the county jail in this city. When it was found the liquor did not bear Government liquor stamps, a Federal officer took the man to Sherman, where he will be tried in Federal Court.

While the alleged bootlegger was brought to McKinney, his wife came over and tried to bail him out, when she was also placed under arrest. After both had been placed in jail, two other men, who claimed to be carpenters working in Farmersville, called on the Sheriff to try and bail out the man and woman. While one of these men was talking to Sheriff Button the merchant who had cashed the worthless check called up the Sheriff's office, whereupon it was found that the man talking to the Sheriff was the one who had signed the bad check, but not the man who had passed the check on the local merchant.

Sheriff Button and his Deputies got busy immediately and when the second man was about to drive out of town he was taken into custody. Both of them are working out their fine on the County Farm, having been sent there for forty days, by County Judge H. H. Neilson.

Smashing all previous records, 148,505 old age pensioners in Texas will receive a total of $2,764,062, an average of $18.61 each in mid-August. The figures were announced by J. S. Murchison, Director of the State Welfare Department. Last month, also setting a record, 144,354 pensioners received checks averaging $18.54 each. The increases were attributed to liberalized eligibility requirements and expanded revenues from taxes.

An estimated 1,000 planes and nearly 10,000 officers and enlisted men of the Army are forces will participate in this year's large-scale maneuvers, the War Department has announced. Dive bombers of the Army, the Navy, and the Marine Corps will swoop down over the troops in simulated warfare that will be realistic to an unprecedented degree. Also light and medium bombers, fighters, and observation planes will carry out combat missions in cooperation with more than 500,000 troops in various maneuver areas.

McKinney is to be congratulated on the splendid way in which hundreds of soldiers were entertained Tuesday night. Throwing wide open its doors and bidding each soldier boy welcome, large numbers of these troops, members of the 45th Division, who were camped for the night at Princeton, thronged this city, enjoying a dance on the public square, a free picture show, free use of the municipal swimming pool, while scores of homes were host to groups of these soldier boys for a home-cooked meal. Not only did the visitors enjoy the occasion, but McKinneyites enjoyed being host to such a group of gallant guardians of America. "McKinney is certainly a swell city," the comment of several of the visitors, was typical of the words of appreciation the soldiers voiced during the evening's entertainment in their honor.

LICENSES TO BE RENEWED.

Renewals of 2,750,000 drivers' licenses, will get under way by mail from Austin about Oct. 1 and continue through November, 1942, according to Captain J. B. Draper, chief of the drivers' license division of the Texas department of public safety.

License holders will be required to obtain application forms to be placed at courthouses, post offices, banks and other public places, fill them out and mail to the department at Austin, with a 50-cent fee. The renewal license will be forwarded in about five or six days. Failure to apply for renewal at the proper time renders the licensee liable to a driver's test.

Expiration dates for licenses follows: 1 to 450,000, Dec. 31; 450,000 to 900,000, March 31, 1942; 900,001 to 1,350,000, June 30, 1942, and all from 1,350,001 up, Dec. 1, 1942.

COTTON FINDING NEW OUTLETS IN BUILDING FIELD.

A paneling wood so thin yet so strong that you can wrap it around a pencil without breaking it—glass almost as thick as your window pane that you can curve around a post—thin sheets of wood and steel so perfectly bonded as to be inseparable—these are dependent upon cotton in part for the qualities which are making them the talk of the building industry. And their rapidly expanding use lends further credence to the belief that the building industry will develop into the long-awaited new million-bale-a-year outlet for cotton.

Newest of the three products, the flexible glass, is glass bonded to cotton fabric and then divided into a series of squares or rectangles. Made in 26 colors, it is rapidly being accepted by the American building industry for use in decorative work in homes, office buildings, hotels, and public structures.

Like the flexible glass, the flexible wood is dependent upon cotton fabric as a base material. Not a synthetic, it is made up of extremely thin strips of flexed woods, fixed to the cotton backing by a special adhesive. The cement developed for affixing the flexible wood makes it suitable for application to dry plaster, steel, plywood, hard wallboards, tile, marble, asbestos or even glass.

For extreme strength as well as beauty, the new product of bonded wood and metal is finding a special place in the building industry.

A thin sheet of steel and a sheet of wood are bonded together by a layer of cotton cloth and metallic and phenol resin adhesives. So strong is the adhesive that water cannot penetrate into the cotton between the wood and steel. Easily cut, drilled, punched, stamped and bent to shape, the bonded metal is being used in the manufacture of furniture, where its quality of low combustibility makes it ideal; and as a highly decorative wall finish in homes, offices and other

In a recent Nazi broadcast, it was stated: "We are fighting for Western Christian civilization against the Godlessness of Soviet Russia." PER CAPITA APPORTIONMENT.

The action of the State Board of Education in setting the scholastic apportionment for 1941-42 at the maximum under the present law, $22.50 per capita, is gratifying to the state, as it will enable the mto plan early their budgets for the next school year, says the Texas Outlook. The action of the board was forecast both by the needs of the schools and by potential school revenue in sight. It is good, however, to have the matter settled.

Careful calculations to determine the amount of money needed to run the public schools of Texas for a period of six months, as provided in the constitution, reveals the fact that an apportionment of $24.50 would be required, if the provisions of the state constitution were fully met. Estimates prepared by the State Comptroller's department show that existing sources of revenue would produce, for the year, an apportionment of approximately $24 per capita.

YOUNG RAF MINISTERIAL STUDENT.

An innovation was made Sunday night in the series of union church services, held each week on the Hill School lawn, with four churches participating, when Rev. Peter Elford, of London, England, who is training with the R. A. F. in Dallas, was the speaker. The young ministerial student, who has just reached his majority, was heard by a large congregation, who gave him perfect attention.

It is regrettable that the war, now spreading throughout the world, has taken hundred of thousands of the flower of the world's young manhood from their natural vocations and placed them either in the war arena or in training centers, such as this bright and sincere young Englishman.

It is to be sincerely hoped that he and his companions, who are training in this nation, will be spared the horrors of the terrible conflict and that soon they may return to their homeland and to their peacetime pursuits.

NYA ALLOTS $1,099,539 TO TEXAS SCHOOLS.

Texas will receive $1,099,539 out of the total of $21,088,125 allocated by Aubrey Williams, Administrator of the National Youth Administration. The funds will be for meeting the cost of the NYA student work program during the 1941-42 academic year.

Texas will receive $494,736 for the regular school work program and $604,800 for the college and graduate work program.

The allocations will provide part-time work for needy students between the ages of 16 and 24, inclusive, to enable them to continue their education. Of the allocations made Saturday $10,039,050 will provide employment for secondary school students and $11,049,075 will go to college students.

It is expected that more than 500,000 students will be employed by the NYA in the 1941-1942 school year. About 27,000 nonprofit-making tax exempt secondary schools and 1,700 colleges and universities will participate.

Secondary school students will earn between $3 and $6 a month. College undergraduates will get between $10 and $20 a month and graduate students will receive between $10 and $30 a month.

CARRY ON.

In the deep dark despair o fan aching heart, when real trouble comes, like the loss of a beloved one, there is an inner strength that comes to those who trust in the infinite wisdom of a supreme plan.

The inspiration of those precious ones who have passed on is stronger in the blessed halo of memory. Somewhere they walk serene in beauty unafraid.

How trivial seem the ordinary cares that infest the day when a great crisis faces us. Today when men and women throughout the world are meeting tragic tests, we should be shamed for lack of faith and courage if we quail and give way to petty worries of the business day.

All the bright and brave souls we've cherished in the bygone days bid us be strong and to show our lives worthy of them. We cannot let them down!

The heart that has been tempered on the anvil of sorrow can sympathize more completely with others. It should be calmer and kinder and braver.

In the hour of death "hope sees a star and listening love hears the rustle of a wing." Still faith abideth and comforteth. Truly, a cure for little troubles is a big one. "As thy days are, so shall thy strength be." Carry on!—Hubert M. Harrison in East Texas Magazine.

WAR-WINTER NAZI THREAT.

Today's issue of Business Week states that though Germans deny the campaign in the East is settling down to an old-fashioned siege war, Berlin this week made preparations for another war winter.

On the domestic front, a drive started for the collection of old clothes and other textile materials which ingenious Nazi manufacturers are expected to reclaim to help the reich meet its clothing demands.

Nazi economists say that in a normal prewar year they reclaimed as much as 170,000 tons of textile materials, of which 60,000 were wool. This time, however, the returns are small, for the Germans have been living largely on ersatz clothing for five years and on skimpy rations for more than two. The result is that just about everything has been patched and used until it is worthless for reclaiming.

Germans have another indication that next winter is going to be a skimpier one than either o fthe war winters already experienced. Word has been passed around unofficially that when the new clothing ration cards are issued in October—for the third time since the war began—the card no longer will automatically entitle the holder to a suit along with haberdashery. There will not be enough suits to go around in Germany next winter. It will be necessary for a man to pass a "need" test and secure an individual permit if he wants a new suit.

Persons who believe themselves eligible for assistance under the state program of aid to needy blind were entitled to start filing applications of the State Department of Public Welfare, Monday, Aug. 11. The department announced that the program, for which the legislature at its recent session appropriated $400,000 a year, would get under way on that date. The State appropriation will be matched by the Federal Government to assist adult, needy blind. The announcement said a department worker at the courthouse in this city would explain eligibility requirements and accept applications.

Railroad Commissioner Jerry Sadler has invited President Roosevelt to be in Austin Aug. 18 at a regular statewide hearing to receive warrants for oil donated by Texas operators on Aug. 17 for British aid. The invitation read: "Aug. 17 has been set as 'Texas-oil-for-Britain' day when operators of this State may produce oil which they will contribute to the cause of British and world defense. We are hereby inviting you to come to Austin on Aug. 18 to personally receive warrants for this oil which, if delivered to England, will be equal to a gift of approximately $5,000,000. If, because of your multitudinous duties, you cannot come would you please designate a personal representative to come to Austin on that date to take part in the presentation ceremony." Mr. Sadler predicted several high British officials would also be present for the ceremony. He said independent operators had indicated an almost unanimous favorable response to the oil for Britain donation.

SOLDIER BOYS ENTERTAINED.

During the week McKinney and Cotton County have been hosts to several thousand of Uncle Sam's fighting men. Many of them were Oklahoma boys, but there were hundreds from Colorado and many other States. A finer lot of good American boys we have never seen and it made us proud of the privilege of extending them true McKinney and Collin County hospitality. We hope when they finish their war games in Louisiana two months hence they will come back through our community.

Tuesday and Thursday nights, McKinney gave a public dance on the Court House Square, the Mayor and City Commission turned the Municipal Swimming Pool over to them, and they were permitted to enjoy the cool, invigorating bathing. They were even furnished swim suits and towels, all as guests of the City. In addition to this, they were admitted free to the State Theater as guests of Roy L. Brockman.

Many of the boys also were entertained in McKinney homes in true Texas style, with good, southern cooking and refreshments. Hundreds of the boys were treated to soft drinks, ice cream and cigarettes when they came to town for the evening, and were driven to the city and back to their camp by public-spirited McKinney citizens.

We think the boys enjoyed themselves and we hope they come again.

V FOR VICTORY SIGN OVER CONQUERED LANDS IRKS NAZIS.

Using the letter V as chief weapon—a symbol of Victory over the Nazis—the British propaganda bureau directed and won the first full-scale battle in the new war of nerves on the European continent. News of V's springing up by the thousands—by word of mouth, radio, and underground communication throughout the Nazi-dominated countries—made the first day of the offensive a big success.

Reports of the letter V painted on walls and fences in most of the conquered countries and the dispatches telling of 6,200 V prosecutions by German authorities in Paris alone added to the victory. At Bayonne, France, the letter mysteriously popped up on German automobiles. V's in tar were smeared on a hotel front in Nimes, France, while a door on the Nazi headquarters near Rouen was reported to bear the victory sign. An ingenious method of spreading the V was carried out by French peasants who chalked the letter on the hands and stamped it on German soldiers' uniforms from a slap on the back.

Radio broadcasts from Britain sounded the Morse code signal for V, three dots and one long sound, and the opening notes of Beethoven's Fifth symhony, three short notes and a long one, were heard.

In a counter-attack, The Berlin radio claimed full rights to the letter V, proclaiming that the letter means "Viktoria"—the victory of the German arms, or veni, vidi, vici, which the Germans insist they have a greater right to use than Caesar. The British countered this with instructions to use the Lorraine cross, insignia of the De Gaulle Army of Free France, accompanied with V. The letter V also stands for "Verfuehrer," the German word which means one who misleads or one who leads astray, and could apply to Hitler.

The new victory symbol is, if nothing else, an extremely clever British ruse to destroy German morale and an effective rallying point to stimulate even greater resistance in the hearts of peoples of conquered countries. It has given these people a new hope and a new unity for eventually destroying Hitler's mastery over them. It has brought nearer the day of liberation.

In the United States, followers of the democratic cause have enthusiastically taken up the new slogan by pasting large V's on windows of homes and on automobile windshields. The letter was even the motif at a dedication ceremony and reception at the Norwegian Legation in Washington, D. C. As a theme, paper napkins had the symbol printed on one corner, and a large V made of evergreens was hung from the ceiling of the Legation. The insignia proclaimed Norway's determined spirit to carry on until the home country has been released from Nazi domination.

Of course, writing the letter V on doors and walls and playing the first four notes of the Fifth Symphony will not break any prisons or release any slaves, much less arm the 135,000,000 people now being held in subjection. But potentially the sign of the V has all the dynamite necessary to transform a heretofore passive resistance into active revolution. It gives the downtrodden peoples of conquered Europe a fresh start toward ultimate victory.

Edwin J. Kiest, Dallas Newspaper Man, Succumbs

Edwin J. Kiest, 79, prominent in Texas newspaper circles, outstanding business and civic leader of Dallas, and owner of the Dallas Times Herald for nearly a half century, and also owner of KRLD radio Station, died at 3 o'clock Monday morning at the Medical Arts Hospital in Dallas.

Mr. Kiest was a native of Illinois, but a Texan by adoption, coming to this State several decades ago. He was the son of a methodist preacher and in his boyhood days sold papers on the streets of Chicago.

He was a 33rd degree Mason and a Shriner. He was honored by the State Fair Association of Texas by his election as President on several occasions. Governors of Texas likewise recognized his ability and public-spiritedness by naming him several times member of the Board of the Texas A. & M. College.

Kiest Park, large and beautiful woodland scenic spot in Dallas, was given the city of Dallas several years ago by Mr. Kiest, and now provides thousands of Dallasites and North Texans with playground and recreational facilities. Some forty years ago, Mr. Kiest purchased the Dallas Times Herald since when the paper has steadily grown and progressed under his direction, until now it is recognized as one of the outstanding evening newspapers of the State and Southwest.

Mrs. Kiest preceded her husband in death several years ago, in Dallas.

Mr. Kiest was a close personal friend of Senator-Mayor Tom W. Perkins of McKinney, who is saddened at the death of his longtime friend. In fact, he sold Mr. Perkins the first newspaper plant Mr. Perkins ever owned, at Wylie, in Southeast Collin, Mr. Perkins making a down payment of $25.00 for that plant. When Mr. and Mrs. Perkins were married, Mr. Kiest, long a friend of Mr. Perkins, was an attendant at their wedding. On many occasions he had been a guest in the Perkins' home.

Mr. Kiest was active in his profession, being prominent in the Texas Press Association. He came to Texas as Manager of the Western Newspaper Union, but soon resigned from that position to become owner of the Dallas Times Herald.

Funeral arrangements for Mr. Kiest are pending.

Mayor Tom W. Perkins wired the following telegram on learning of the death of Mr. Kiest:

McKinney, Texas,
Aug. 11, 1941.

"Tom C. Gooch,
"Dallas Times Herald,
"Dallas, Texas.

"In the death of Edwin J. Kiest, Editor and owner of the Dallas Times Herald, Texas loses one of its outstanding and greatest members of the Fourth Estate. His paper, for almost a half century, has been recognized as among the greatest in the Southwest. He was generous, kind and appreciative of those who worked for him for the betterment of Dallas, Texas and the Southwest. He was liberal to a fault and was recognized, loved and adored and respected by everyone whose good fortune it was to know him.

"Although not a native of Texas, he adopted Texas as his home, having lived here for almost a half century. The people of Dallas recognized his great ability and elected him three times as President of the State Fair of Texas. Texas Governors recognized him for his ability and philanthropies by appointing him on the Board of the Texas A. & M. College. The beautiful Kiest Park in Dallas, of several hundred acres, given the city by Mr. Kiest in memory of his wife, is a monument to a great man that will long stand to the credit and wonderful qualities of this great man.

"To know him was to love and respect him. A good man has gone, whose memory will be long remembered and revered.

TOM W. PERKINS, Former President Texas Press Ass'n. Editor McKinney Daily Courier-Gazette and the Weekly Democrat-Gazette."

Urge Farmers To Grow Soft Wheat In This County

Recommendations that Collin County farmers should grow only soft wheat were made by Fred T. Dines, of Amarillo, Director of the Texas Wheat Improvement Association, and E. A. Miller, Extension Agronomist at Texas A. & M. College, during a conference of Collin County wheat farmers held here Friday. Present at the meeting were fifteen of the largest wheat growers in the county and great interest was manifested in the discussion. Taking part also were Jack McCullough, County Agent, and V. C. Andrews, Assistant County Agent.

Similar conferences are being held throughout he wheat belt of Texas, Mr. Dines said. The principal objection has been to the wide variety of wheat planted in Collin as in many other Texas Counties. He said soft wheat was best adapted to this county and specifically recommended the planting of only two varieties, Mediterranean and Red May, both of which, he said, will produce the best and largest crop and bring the best cash returns to the grower. Farmers attending the meeting brought samples of their seed, which was closely examined by the two experts. They explained that the varieties best suited to this section of Texas were determined after years of testing at the State Experiment Station at Denton and they srongly recommended that Collin County wheat farmers confine their efforts to the two varieties of soft wheat mentined.

MODERN KEROSENE RANGES TRANSFORM RURAL KITCHENS

Many of us have only to look back a few years into the homes of our childhood to see our mothers toiling away in the kitchen preparing a feast for the family. Well can we remember the enjoyment she seemed to get from cooking a meal for a house full of guests. Looking back on the kitchen equipment which our mothers had in those days and comparing it with that available today, we wonder how she ever derived any enjoyment out of the work necessary with the cumbersome equipment and the many inconveniences involved.

Despite the fact that they are located far from electrical power lines or piped fuels, the rural housewife now has at her control most of the modern facilities found in her somewhat more fortunate city sister's kitchens. Most important of these from a health and labor-saving standpoint is the range she uses for cooking. Kerosene has become the most popular fuel for rural use. This is due largely to the general availability of kerosene and the fact that manufacturers have brought out a line of beautiful, streamlined kerosene ranges. These ranges are so modern in design and efficient in performance that they are difficult to distinguish from the modern gas or electric range.

The modern kerosene range with fully enclosed burners and fuel tanks brings new cooking experieces to the rural housewife. Even those familiar with kerosene range performance are amazed at the intense heat furnished by the highly improved burners, either long or short chimney type. Glass wool insulated ovens capture this heat and turn out pies and cakes in hitherto undreamed perfection.

Thus the emancipation of the rural housewife starts, in the kitchen, where it is most likely to effect her entire family. She spends less time over a hot stove; the meals she cooks in shorter time are more wholesome, more delicious; her kerosene range is beautiful, modern, streamlined; and she has more leisure time to spend with her family.

ROTARIANS HEAR LIEUTENANT BENJAMIN SMITH IN SPLENDID TALK AT FRIDAY LUNCHEON

Another splendid talk on army life was made before the business men of McKinney Friday noon when Lieutenant Benjamin Smith, McKinney Business man who is in the Officers' Reserve Corps, spoke before the McKinney Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon at the First Methodist Church.

Lieutenant Smith, who is attached to the Cavalry Unit at Fort Bliss, El Paso, had stopped here for a few days on his way to participate in the gigantic army maneuvers in East Texas and Western Louisiana. He told the Rotarians of the splendid training men receive in all branches of the army and of the efficiency with every detail is attended to. In this connection, he descrobed how smoothly the thousands of troops had been transported from Texac camps to the mock battle grounds. The McKinney man recalled that eight thousands of these troops from Camp Barkley, Abilene, had just passed through this city and had been entertained royally by the citizens of this city and county while they were camped near this city.

Lieutenant Smith was introduced by Clyde W. Clack, who served as Chairman of the meeting. He and Vernon Crockett constituted the Program Committee for the week. The meeting was opened by President Lyman D. Robinson of the Rotary Club.

Guests at the luncheon were Prof. A. A. Alexander, guest of City Superintendent Jack R. McKinney, Collin County Citizens At Inauguration

There was a tense moment at the inauguration of Coke R. Stevenson as Governor of Texas Friday noon when Mrs. Stevenson, who had been ill in a hospital for some time, was carried into the Senate Chamber on a stretcher and placed in a roller chair, where she sat throughout the ceremonies, according to the McKinney citizens who attended the impressive ceremony.

Attending from McKinney and Collin County were, among others, Henry W. Warden, prominent McKinney banker; County Judge H. H. Neilson, Gibson Caldwell, well known business man; Rev. Earl J. Patton, Pastor of the First Methodist Church; Senator Wallace Hughston, and Tom Airhart, well known citizen of Altoga.

Governor Stevenson was sworn in by Chief Justice James P. Alexander of the State Supreme Court, and the Governor delivered an address of about ten or fifteen minutes' duration which, according to the Collin County citizens who heard him, was most impressive and sincere.

The entire Senate Chamber, where the ceremonies were held was packed to capacity, with all seats and all standing room occupied on the main floor and galleries.

Young English Minister Is Speaker Here

What proved to be one of the best-attended and most helpful in the series of union church services was held Sunday night on the J. H. Hill (Central) Ward School lawn, with the Central Presbyterian Church, one of the cooperating churches, sponsors.

The speaker was Rev. Peter Elford, of London, England, young ministerial student, who has just reached his majority, and who is training with the RAF in Dallas, Texas. He brought a splendid, encouraging spiritual message that was well received by the large congregation. He described the reaction of English people during the bombing raids on London and other English cities and declared that in such times of stress their thoughts turn to God and that many of them will be found worshipping God at such times.

Rev. Elford asserted that this country should wake up and follow the Cross, as do the people of his own country. Dr. R. L. Cowan, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, was in charge of the evening program, the eighth in the series of Sunday night union church programs, being held out-of-doors, with four churches participating, the Central Presbyterian, First Presbyterian, First Christian and the First Methodist. The young speaker was introduced by Will J. Rhea, a member of the Central Presbyterian Church in this city.

Next Sunday night being Dr. Cowan's regular date to bring the message at the union church service, Dr. Cowan announced Monday that he had secured Rev. Wm. J. H. Petter of Greenville, Rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, in McKinney, as the speaker. Dr. Cowan bespeaks a large turnout of worshipers to hear Rev. Petter speak. The First Presbyterian Church will be responsible for the program, with Mrs. H. L. Shoap is charge of the music.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Felden of New York City will arrive about Aug. 19 for a ten days visit with Mrs. Deldon's mother, Mrs. Ola McCauley in this city. Mrs. McCauley will also have her other children during the week as follows: Mr. and Mrs. George McCauley of Dickenson; Mr. and Mrs. R. Lee McCauley and children of Houston; and Mrs. Vivian Kinney and daughter, Judy of Dallas. Mrs. Felden was Miss Linnie McCauley of this city before her marriage.

DEMONSTRATION CLUBS OF COUNTY TO HAVE EXHIBITS COLLIN COUNTY FREE FAIR

Six Home Demonstration Clubs definitely reported they will have exhibits of canned fruits and vegetables, pickles and needlework at the Collin County Free Fair in September, during a meeting of the Home Demonstration Council held Saturday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. Nine clubs were represented at the meeting. It was the first time Miss Charlotte Boyce, County Home Demonstration Agent, had the opportunity to personally meet the women of the Home Demonstration Clubs of Collin County.

"While only six of the fourteen clubs in the county promised to enter exhibits," said Miss Boyce, "I am positive that other clubs will participate. Members of other clubs said they were sure their clubs would have exhibits, but they were not officially authorized to commit themselves."

There was considerable discussion on the rules which will be followed in the Home Demonstration Division of the Free Fair and Miss Boyce said within a few days copies of the rules will be mailed to all fourteen clubs in the county.

The clubs that definitely promised to have exhibits were Bloomdale, Bethany, Rhea's Mill, Franklin, Lebanon and Callis.

During the meeting, three delegates were appointed to officially represent the Home Demonstration Clubs of Collin County at the Texas Home Demonstration Association Convention at Beaumont September 3, 4 and 5. The delegates are: Miss Eva Bryan of Frisco, member of the Lebanon Club; Mrs. E. M. Williams of McKinney, member of the Rhea's Mill Club, and Mrs. Earl Story of Allen, member of the Bethany Club.

She was attended by Mrs. Robert Christopherson of Dallas as matron of honor and by her sister, Miss Lurline England and Miss Aline Jay of Van Alstyne as bridesmaids. All wore white sheer frocks with large white hats and corsages of pink gladiolas.

Dusting Provides Best Control Of The Leaf Worm

Cotton leaf worms are numerous in the cotton crop of Collin County and if they are not controlled, will cause serious damage to the cotton, according to J. N. Roney, entomologist of the Texas A. & M. College, who spent the week-end in McKinney with his family. Dusting, he said, gives the best control of the leaf worms, although wet sprays may be used.

"Your County Agent or Vocational-Agriculture teacher can give yo uthe formula for these spray mixtures," said Mr. Roney. "Do not use poisons of any kind that are not recommended. The dusts should be applied when no wind is blowing and when dew is present, if possible. Never apply dusts in the middle of the day."

Below are a few dust combinations that are recommended by F. L. Thomas, Chief of the Division of Entomology of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, for the control of the leaf worm.

Calcium arsenate, five pounds per acre.

Calceum arsenate, 90 parts; Paris green, ten parts or 90 parts of the first and five of the latter.

Arsenate of lead, 90 parts and 10 parts of any of the following materials: Hydrated lime, clay, talc, pyrax or dusting sulphur.

Natural or synthetic cryolite 85 parts and 15 parts of Sulphur, clay or pyrax.

Paris green, one part; flour, one part and five parts of hydrated lime.

Zinc arsenate, one part; hydrated lime, four parts.

The cotton bollworms are also causing injury to large cotton bolls and are too large to be controlled, said Mr. Roney. They can be killed only when the worms are very small and in the top of the cotton plant, he added.

He offers another caution when using dust machines. "Be sure the nozzles point straight down and are six to eight inches above the top of the cotton," he said.

Mrs. Julius Purnell and daughter, Miss Edna Elizabeth Purnell, are visiting in Dallas today.

Miss Mozelle Proffitt Bride Of Eugene Marcy

The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Marcy took place Friday evening, in a twilight lawn ceremony at the home of the birde's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Proffitt.

She was accompanied by Miss Francis Dennis of Addison. Otis Proffitt of Leonard, Texas, and Uncle of the Bride, officiated.

The bride wore a dress of pink marquset and lace with navy blue accessories. Her corsage was of gardenias and tuberoses.

Approximately 60 guests attended the wedding and after the ceremony punch and cookies were served in the side yard at a reception, with the guests signing the bride's book.

After the reception the couple left for a brief honeymoon to Austin and other points. Upon their return home, the couple will make their home in Addison.
